5. Relaxation

Now sit comfortably and close your eyes. Listen to the music. How quiet and nice it is! Now imagine that you are sitting on a small cloud. It is flying high up in the sky. You can see the sun, yellow, bright and beautiful. Now your cloud is taking you to the mountains. They are white with snow and ice. And now you are going up into the open space. It's very black and deep, and only stars are shining in its dark. You look down and see our planet. It's green and wonderful. You are going down and see the red sunset. It looks like fire and makes you warm and comfortable. And now your little cloud is back. You are feeling very well. Open your eyes and get back to our classroom.

English Schools

In English schools lessons begin at nine o'clock in the morning. In the morning they have four lessons. They have a long break of an hour and a half between the fourth and the fifth lessons. During the long break some of the pupils go home and have dinner. Some children have dinner in the school dining room. After the dinner break they have three lessons. During the breaks the children play or walk in the school playground. The pupils go home at ten minutes past four, but some pupils stay at school for clubs. One afternoon a week is for sports. On Saturday afternoon they stay at home. Many schools are for boys and girls, but there are schools only for boys or only for girls.
